The IEP Curriculum

A. IEP Levels and Instructional Hours

The ELC’s Intensive English Program (IEP) offers five levels of non-credit English courses. Each level lasts one semester, following the MSU academic calendar (Fall, Spring & Summer).

ESL 092 – intermediate
ESL 093 – high-intermediate
ESL 094 – low-advanced

IEP classes are in session for 20 hours a week. Students have 4-5 hours of class each Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday. Courses are listed by level below (hours/week):

ESL 092
- Speaking / Listening (4 hours)
- Reading / Writing (8 hours)
- Content (4 hours)
- Grammar (4 hours)

ESL 093
- Speaking / Listening (4 hours)
- Reading / Writing (8 hours)
- Content (4 hours)
- Grammar (2 hours)
- Vocabulary (2 hours)

ESL 094
- Speaking / Listening (4 hours)
- Content-Based Writing (8 hours)
- Reading (4 hours)
- Grammar (2 hours)
- Vocabulary (2 hours)
Instructional time per semester are as follows:

B. Description of IEP Courses

Courses in the Intensive English Program are designed to offer level-appropriate skills development, grammar instruction and practice, and vocabulary-learning experiences for students aspiring to improve their academic English. Students are placed into levels consonant with their performance on the MSUELT placement test and are promoted through the program in accordance with a combination of class performance and test results. For more details, see the complete sets of objectives, learning outcomes, and suggested methods of assessment that follow the overall descriptions.

The IEP Curriculum is reviewed on a regular basis by the Curriculum Committee.

ESL 092

Courses at this level are for high-beginning/low-intermediate students, whose communicative ability in English allows the navigation of most basic classroom functions. The emphasis continues to be on developing skills for success at a U.S. university, and students work in their skills courses on moderately challenging academic topics that require some abstraction and facility with metaphor. Reading instruction aims to expand vocabulary toward a total repertoire of about 2K. Reading also expands the students’ experience with a variety of text structures and purposes. Emphasis is placed on the comprehension of explicitly stated factual information and expands toward an appreciation of authorial point of view and toward an appreciation of implied content. Increased fluency is explicitly encouraged. Writing focuses on paragraph-level production. The students’ appreciation for and development of an effective writing process is emphasized, and attention is paid to giving feedback to one’s peers and accepting feedback from them. Patterns of generalization and support are taught and practiced in writing. Listening work goes beyond utilitarian social functions to more abstract and academic material in short lectures and presentations. Recognition of main ideas and supporting details in listening material strengthens and note-taking skills are beginning to develop. Speaking instruction solidifies one’s ability to handle transactions like asking for and explaining misunderstandings, but it also concentrates on skills necessary for working in groups and addressing an entire class (briefly and informally). Grammar is taught explicitly and constitutes part of each skills class as well. Some grammar topics emphasized at this level are tense and aspect (simple, progressive, and [in an introductory way] perfect), modals, the noun phrase (especially quantifiers, determiners, and adjectives), and an introduction to compound and complex sentences. A content-based course in American culture is offered at this level.

ESL 093

Courses at this level are for intermediate students. The emphasis continues to be on developing skills for success at a U.S. university, and students work in their skills courses with academic topics that are abstract, timely, and complex and that allow for speculation and prediction. Emphasis is placed on the comprehension of both explicitly stated and implied factual information. Fluency improvement is taught as means of dealing with a larger volume of required reading. Vocabulary is targeted not only in skills classes but in a dedicated vocabulary class, where the goal is a basic form-meaning facility with about 300 of the headwords from the AWL. Some collocational and usage restrictions are taught as well. Writing focuses on transitioning from paragraph-level to essay-level production. The students’ appreciation for an effective writing process continues to be emphasized, as does the process of using peer/instructor feedback in making editorial changes. Essay-level traits like unity, focus, and cohesion are emphasized. Listening work stresses the understanding of longer listening passages. Speaking instruction focuses on the precise expression of thoughts, opinions, and reactions to listening and reading inputs. Grammar is taught explicitly for two hours a week and constitutes part of each skills class as well. Some grammar topics emphasized at this level are a continuation of tense and aspect, modals, conditionals, gerunds and infinitives, adverbials, and complex sentence structures. Students choose between two content-based courses: American History or Performing Arts.

ESL 094

Courses at this level are for upper-intermediate students and are meant to bring a student’s proficiency close to the level required for taking mainstream courses in a U.S. university. Sophistication of language—both receptive and productive—is a characteristic of materials used at this level. Reading passages are longer, about more difficult topics, and presented in greater volume than at any lower level. The vocabulary of reading passages tends toward the natural and metaphorical, uncontrolled by any frequency list. Emphasis is placed on the comprehension of a large volume of both explicitly stated and implied factual information. Fluency improvement is taught as a means of dealing with this larger volume of required reading. Vocabulary targets are drawn from the reading textbook but are taught independently and in greater depth (collocationally and lexicosemantically) than the reading book requires. Writing focuses on essays of various genre and purpose. Topically appropriate structures and cohesive devices are taught and practiced. Summarizing and paraphrasing are frequently employed, and students practice writing summaries and paraphrases without plagiarizing. Unity, cohesion, and flow between paragraphs are taught. Writing instruction makes use of content-based material of the teacher’s choice to provide substantive input for writing assignments. Listening work is longer and more complex, requiring a greater sensitivity to thought groups and a greater reliance on effective notes. Listening passages have more of the features—like hedging, backtracking, pauses, and digressions—that make natural academic speech difficult to comprehend. Speaking instruction continues to focus on academic functions such as expressing doubts, hedging, and supporting an argument, and students are expected to use their skills in group work and in making formal reports to the whole class. Grammar is taught explicitly for two hours a week and constitutes part of each skills class as well. Some grammar topics emphasized at this level are complex sentences, cohesive devices, structures of reported speech, and patterns that combine various verb tenses/aspects.

C. Full IEP Curriculum

Curricular objectives and outcomes are reviewed by instructors and Skills Coordinators each semester. The Curriculum Committee considers and approves any changes. Each course set appears on a separate page in this manual. The date of the most recent revision is in parentheses next to each set.

2. Objective: Demonstrate sufficient knowledge of a variety of grammatical features and sentence patterns to comprehend spoken English and communicate effectively.
SLOs:

- In order to identify key information they hear in informal and formal listening contexts, including short academic style lectures, recognize the forms/functions/meanings of basic grammar structures and sentence patterns they hear.
- Employ basic grammar structures and sentence patterns learned to effectively express meaning about a variety of everyday topics and topics covered in class.
- Demonstrate some ability to self-correct with guidance from the instructor.

Suggested MOAs:

- Teachers evaluate students’ understanding of targeted grammar structures on assignments and quizzes.
- Teachers evaluate students’ accuracy and appropriateness of targeted grammar structures in informal mini presentations, group work, role plays, and/or dialogues, etc., using a rubric where grammar is a category.
ESL 093 Speaking / Listening Objectives (Last Revision 2017)

Listening
1. Objective: Understand main ideas and the most important supporting details in modified and authentic speech.

SLOs:
- Identify the main ideas and important supporting details presented in modified or short authentic academic passages.
- Employ effective strategies to compensate for gaps in their listening comprehension.
- Identify the connections between ideas by identifying clues such as transition words and phrases, repetition of key ideas, stress, intonation, etc. that signal these relationships.
- Record and organize information heard by selectively noting important ideas and employing a personal system of note-taking that makes clear the relationship between the ideas they have recorded.
- Recognize effective use of the suprasegmental features of word stress, sentence stress, contracted or reduced speech, common intonation patterns, and stress for emphasis.

Suggested MOAs:
- Teachers assess student comprehension based on their oral or written responses to basic items on quizzes, homework, classroom activities, etc. Students use their notes when appropriate.
- Students assess the effectiveness of their own notes by comparing them with those of classmates and/or teacher samples and determining how well they can answer comprehension questions using their notes.
- Teachers assess the thoroughness and organization of student notes and provide feedback.

Active Listening
1. Objective: Recognize and utilize a variety of active listening and negotiation strategies to indicate comprehension, lack of comprehension, and/or the need for additional or modified input.

SLOs:
- Effectively utilize body language and other forms of backchanneling to indicate active listening and comprehension or confusion.
- Negotiate meaning by asking and answering questions seeking clarification, and confirming their understanding in order to resolve miscommunication.

Suggested MOAs:
- Teachers observe students in pairs or groups and provide formal or informal feedback on the effectiveness of their active listening strategies.
- Students reflect on the effectiveness of their group interactions by completing guided self-evaluations.
• Contribute effectively to the development of the discussion by appropriately taking, holding, and relinquishing the floor.

• Teachers assess students’ clarification questions.

Speaking

1. Objective: Express ideas and opinions effectively about a variety of common academic and non-academic topics.

SLOs:

- Convey meaning effectively about a range of academic and non-academic topics.
- State their opinions and support them with relevant details and explanations.
- Restate, summarize, and respond to the opinions of others.
- Demonstrate a degree of fluency by speaking without frequent/lengthy pauses and utilizing body language, description, and synonyms to circumlocute.
- Demonstrate effective use of the suprasegmental features of word stress, sentence stress, common intonation patterns, and stress for emphasis.

Suggested MOAs:

- Teachers assess student production in prepared and/or extemporaneous presentations, group work, debates, etc. using a rubric with specific descriptors for the SLOs noted.

Vocabulary & Grammar

1. Objective: Demonstrate sufficient knowledge of common general and academic vocabulary for effective and fluent communication.

SLOs:

- Recognize a wide range of general vocabulary and sufficient academic vocabulary to accurately comprehend meaning in informal and formal listening contexts, including academic lectures.
- Employ appropriate word choices to express their ideas about a variety of academic and non-academic topics.

Suggested MOAs:

- Teachers evaluate students’ understanding of vocabulary on assignments and quizzes.
- Teachers evaluate students’ choice of appropriate target vocabulary in prepared and/or extemporaneous presentations, group work, debates, etc. using a rubric where vocabulary is a category.
- Utilize correct word forms of high frequency vocabulary when expressing their ideas about everyday topics and academic topics covered in class.

2. Objective: Demonstrate sufficient knowledge of a range of grammatical structures and sentence patterns to comprehend spoken English and communicate effectively.

SLOs:
- In order to accurately identify information presented about a variety of academic and non-academic topics, recognize the forms/functions/meanings of a range of grammar structures and sentence patterns they hear.
- Employ basic grammar structures and sentence patterns learned to effectively express meaning about a variety of concrete topics and everyday tasks/needs.
- Demonstrate ability to self-correct when prompted.

Suggested MOAs:
- Teachers evaluate students’ understanding of targeted grammar structures on assignments and quizzes.
- Teachers evaluate students’ accuracy and appropriateness of targeted grammar structures in prepared and/or extemporaneous presentations, group work, debates, etc. using a rubric where grammar is a category.
ESL 094 Speaking / Listening Objectives (Last Revision 2017)

IEP Content Curriculum

ESL 092 Content

092 Content is an integrated skills course. The theme of the course is typically American Culture. Teachers may pull from any of the 092 Curricular Objectives in speaking/listening, reading, and writing. The work in the content course reinforces and supports work students are doing in their other skills courses. 092C teachers are also assigned to cover specific grammar objectives (passive, adjectives, and adverbs). A student’s grade in 092 Content should reflect their overall English skill in reading, writing, speaking, listening, grammar, and vocabulary.

ESL 093 Content (Last revision 2016)

Course Description:

In the Content course at 093, students have a chance to use their developing academic English skills to tackle one subject for a full semester. There are two possible options in 093: U.S. History or Performing Arts. Both are modeled after typical university courses with lectures, quizzes, assignments, discussions, etc. The Performing Arts section is taught jointly by one ELC instructor and one faculty member from the MSU Department of Theatre. The U.S. History section is taught by ELC faculty.

Through this course experience, students will come to understand the expectations of a university course, will know how to prepare as expected for all class meetings, and will know how to participate appropriately in different classroom settings and activities (e.g., lecture vs. small group discussion). Good work in this course will lead to accomplishment of the following learning outcomes.

1. Objective: Develop strategies for dealing with authentic materials.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>SLOs:</th>
<th>Suggested MOAs:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>• Restate the main idea of authentic passages (written or spoken) in their own words.</td>
<td>• Instructors ask students to write the main idea of a text in their own words and evaluate the accuracy of the response. Students should not copy a sentence out of the original text.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Identify key information in a spoken or written text and organize it with guidance from the instructor.</td>
<td>• Instructors provide a reading or lecture and a graphic organizer (e.g., a cause-effect flowchart, Venn diagram, table) and evaluate whether students can put accurate information in the correct places on the chart.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Recognize which are the key words in a difficult text and infer the meanings of those words from context.</td>
<td>• Instructors ask students to pick out a limited number of keywords from a given text and write them on a worksheet. Instructors then ask students to explain what each word means and to identify</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
2. Objective: Understand the role of signposting cues in a lecture.

SLOs:
- Recognize lecturer’s signposting cues (e.g., signals for previewing lecture content, introducing main points, examples, transitions, rephrases, conclusions) and use them to predict and understand lecture content.

Suggested MOAs:
- Instructors deliver live lectures, pausing after certain signposting cues to ask students what they have written down or what they expect to hear next.
- After previewing the lecture, instructors check whether students can outline the main points to come, either orally or in note form.
- After lecturing, instructors ask comprehension questions and evaluate students’ responses (e.g., “What was the result of ____?” “What examples did I give about ____ (main point) ____?”
- Instructors evaluate whether students’ notes follow lecturer’s cues.

3. Objective: Take effective notes during long lectures (20-40 minutes).

SLOs:
- Identify key ideas in the lecture and record them in their notes.
- Organize their notes in real-time using indentation, numbered lists, bullets, and other spatial features to indicate relationships between information.
- Use abbreviations, symbols, and only key words and phrases to take notes efficiently.
- Use lecture support materials effectively (e.g., PowerPoints, outlines provided by the professor, printed PPT slides).
- Employ effective note-taking strategies to compensate for gaps in their comprehension and/or note-taking ability.

Suggested MOAs:
- Instructors collect students’ lecture notes and evaluate the content with a rubric.
- Instructors collect students’ lecture notes and evaluate their organization with a rubric.
- Instructors evaluate students’ note-taking speed by delivering a lecture, collecting students’ notes, and evaluating the content they were able to capture with a checklist of main and supporting points.
- Instructors deliver a lecture with a PPT, ask students to take notes, and then evaluate the notes for a given slide (e.g., for a slide with no text, did students recognize that the content was still important and take notes of what the lecturer said orally? For a slide with a lot of text, did students do anything other than just copy verbatim from the slide?)
- Instructors give students a lecture outline ahead of class then ask them to add notes to the outline during lecture. Instructors evaluate students’ ability to add the appropriate information (e.g., not repeat the information already on the outline, put new information in the appropriate place).
- Instructors collect students’ notes immediately after an in-class lecture and see whether students have noted questions or left space for main points they missed (if any).

4. Objective: Use notes effectively.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>SLOs:</th>
<th>Suggested MOAs:</th>

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>• Demonstrate effective use of their notes during open-note tasks.</td>
<td>• On a 10-minute open-notes quiz, instructors evaluate accuracy and completeness of answers to questions about a previous day’s lecture.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>• During in-class review sessions, instructors note whether students can locate the parts of their notes that contain the information they need to answer review questions.</td>
</tr>

| • Recognize different grammatical forms of target vocabulary items and use those forms accurately.
  • Recognize correct passive verb forms in context.
  • Display control of targeted vocabulary and grammatical structures in order to convey meaning accurately. | • On a multiple-choice item, instructors evaluate whether students can select the correct form of target vocabulary to fit the grammar of a sentence (e.g., The colonizes / colonists / colonies protested the high taxes by boycotting tea.). |
|       | • On a multiple-choice item, instructors evaluate whether students can select the correct verb form to complete a sentence (e.g., Supreme Court justices appoint / are appointed by the president). |
6. Objective: Connect information presented in class to larger course themes or concepts.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>SLOs:</th>
<th>Suggested MOAs:</th>

</table>
| • Recognize connections between individual pieces of information (from lectures, readings, discussions, and other class materials) and larger course themes and concepts. | • In U.S. History, the instructor provides a list of “Big Questions” at the beginning of each unit that ask about the main themes. Throughout the unit, instructors return to these questions and ask students to identify supporting points from lectures, readings, class discussions, etc. At the end of the unit, instructors evaluate students’ ability to connect information from the course to answer one of the Big Questions in short-essay form on the test (e.g., in a unit about the Great Depression, one of the Big Questions is “What was (or still is) controversial about FDR’s New Deal? Why?”).
• In Performing Arts, instructors teach theatrical terminology and regularly point out how it is used in examples throughout the class. For example, students study basic dramatic structure then complete worksheets to demonstrate that they can outline the exposition, complications, climax and resolution of a story. |

7. Objective: Respond effectively to short answer questions under time constraints.

ESL 094 - Content Based Writing

Course Description and Goals
094 Content Based Writing is a sustained content-based writing course. The course is meant to simulate an undergraduate content-area course in which students explore one theme in depth for a semester. If you need ideas for your theme, talk to The Content Skills Coordinator or look through previous teachers’ Content materials reviews on Google Drive: ELC Faculty Documents → Sample Course Descriptions → Level 4 → Content Material Reviews from Past Semesters

Writing instruction must follow the ELC curricular objectives for 094 writing. ELC students at this level may enter the EAP following this course, or occasionally go directly into full time study at the university. Therefore, an intensive focus on academic writing is the primary goal. Essays should be thesis driven, relate to the content theme and employ multiple rhetorical modes. Typically, students in 094 CBW will write 2-3 formal, drafted essays, at least one of them using source material. Some discrete grammar should be taught as well as self-editing skills.

Keep in mind that this is not a Reading/Writing course (as in 092 and 093.) Reading and discussion should serve to develop critical thinking and analytical skills to improve writing.

Content should be explored through a variety of media and skills. While you will surely do a variety of listening, speaking, and reading activities as you explore the content, keep in mind that the main goals of such activities are (1) to help students understand and think deeply about the theme so that they can develop substantive, interesting ideas for their writing; (2) to broaden the vocabulary and language that they can use in their writing about the topic; and (3) to help students learn strategies for coping with language that is really above their level. We do want students to “drown” a bit in the content so that they learn ways to pick out main points and accomplish focused tasks. These strategies will serve them well in their future academic studies.

Guidelines for Grading Content-Related Tasks
Quizzes over content are a great way to achieve this 094 Writing objective: Write short answers and essays under time constraints in an effective and coherent way.

All of your content materials and activities (readings, videos, discussions, etc.) are potential sources for students to use in their writing on the theme. When grading content-related tasks, focus on comprehension, vocabulary, critical thinking, and logical communication.

Do not devote class time to teaching discrete speaking skills, listening skills, or reading skills. Leave that to the other teachers in your section. For example, if you assign a presentation, do not spend a lot of class time teaching public speaking skills. That is the S/L teacher’s job. When you grade the presentation, do not use the same rubric you would use for an S/L class. The rubric should not focus on discrete speaking skills (e.g., pronunciation, intonation, delivery). Instead, the rubric should help you assess how much information the students communicate, the accuracy of the information, how well they organize it, the critical thinking shown, etc. The skills demonstrated should be ones that easily transfer to writing.

092: SVO

1. Objective: Understand and use direct and indirect objects.

SLOs:

- Identify direct and indirect objects in two grammatical patterns: S + V + DO to/for IO; or S + V + IO + DO.
- Understand sentences with two objects.
- Produce logical sentences with two objects using both patterns.

Suggested MOAs:

- On a worksheet, instructors ask students to underline the two objects in a sentence and label them as “IO” or “DO”.
- On an assignment, instructors assess whether students can accurately answer questions about a sentence with two objects (e.g., He sent Tom to the advisor. Q: Who did he send? A: Tom; Q: Who did he send him to? A: the advisor.)
- On quizzes or worksheets, instructors supply a verb, and ask students to write a sentence using that verb and two objects (e.g., send → I sent a letter to my mother.) and then to write the sentence using the other pattern (e.g., I sent my mother a letter.) Instructors assess whether students can accurately express the idea both ways.

092: Verb Tense

1. Objective: Understand and use present perfect verbs in affirmative and negative statements, yes-no questions, and wh-questions.

SLOs:

- Recognize and produce accurate present perfect verb forms (have + 3rd).
- Recognize and produce the contractions of have/has and not.
- Distinguish between contractions of is and has using their knowledge of verb tense.
- Transform sentences with present perfect from affirmative to negative.
- Transform sentences with present perfect from statements to questions.
- Understand that present perfect is used to talk about things that happened

Suggested MOAs:

- On a worksheet or quiz, instructors assess students’ ability to identify present perfect forms by underlining them.
- Using cloze exercises with base forms provided, instructors assess students’ ability to produce accurate present perfect forms.
- Instructors evaluate whether students can write the contracted form of a verb phrase with have/has (e.g., I have not been late. = I haven’t been late.)
- On a multiple-choice item, instructors test whether students can identify is or before now (while keeping focus on the present.)
- Recognize signal words that are used with perfect verbs (e.g., before, since, for the last ten years, recently, just, yet, lately, still, already, ever, never, many times).
- Use signal words to determine whether present perfect or simple past is more appropriate.
- Use time expressions with for and since accurately.
- Use since + past time clause. (e.g., I have studied at the ELC since I came to the USA.) has as the correct long form of a contraction (e.g., He’s been late every day.

  a) He is...
  b) He has...).
- On a quiz, instructors assess students’ ability to transform an affirmative statement with a present perfect verb into a negative statement. Instructors evaluate correct word order and verb form.
- On a quiz, instructors assess students’ ability to transform a statement with a present perfect verb into a yes/no question. Instructors evaluate correct word order and verb form.
- On a quiz, a multiple-choice item asks, “Which aspect is used to talk about things that have happened before?” The correct answer is perfect. Distractors are simple and progressive.
- Instructors ask students to circle the signal words in a paragraph and fill in the missing forms of the verbs to fit the context (present simple or perfect).
- Instructors ask students to circle the signal words in a paragraph and fill in the missing forms of the verbs to fit the context (present perfect or simple past). Common signal words for past tense include last year, yesterday, ____ ago, etc.
- Instructors give students a timeline and a sentence stem and ask students to fill in an accurate time expression with since or for (e.g., “I have worked for MSU ________.”)
- On a worksheet, instructors provide the first half of a sentence with present perfect and since, and ask students to fill in a past tense statement to finish the sentence. (“I have studied at the ELC since __________.”) Instructors evaluate whether the sentence is grammatical and logical.

2. Objective: Understand and use past progressive verbs in affirmative and negative statements and questions.

| SLOs: | Suggested MOAs: |
Recognize and produce accurate past progressive verb forms (was/were + -ing.)

Transform sentences with past progressive from affirmative to negative.

Transform sentences with past progressive from statements to questions.

Understand that past progressive is used to describe the relationship between two past actions or events that happen at the same time or interrupt each other.

Understand the relationship of past actions in complex sentences with when and while clauses.

On a worksheet or quiz, instructors assess students’ ability to identify past progressive forms by underlining them.

Using cloze exercises with base forms provided, instructors assess students’ ability to produce accurate past progressive forms.

On a quiz, instructors assess students’ ability to transform an affirmative statement with a past progressive verb into a negative statement. Instructors evaluate correct word order and verb form.

On a quiz, instructors assess students’ ability to transform a statement with a past progressive verb into a yes/no question. Instructors evaluate correct word order and verb form.

On a quiz, a multiple-choice item asks, “Which aspect is used to talk about something that is happening at the same time as another event?” The correct answer is “progressive.” Distractors are “simple” and “perfect.”

Instructors provide items such as: “I __________________ (fall) asleep while I __________________ (take) the quiz.” Students fill in the blanks with past simple or past progressive forms. Instructors evaluate responses for correct form and logical meaning (keeping in mind more than one answer may be possible.)

Instructors provides a sentence such as: “I fell asleep while I was taking the quiz.” Instructors evaluate whether students can accurately represent the relationship of the two events on a timeline (marking an X for the “fell asleep” in the middle of a longer line for “was taking the quiz.”).

3. Objective: Understand the difference between action and stative verbs.

| SLOs: | Suggested MOAs: |
• Understand the difference in meaning between action verbs and stative verbs.
• Form the progressive with action verbs only, not stative verbs.

• On a worksheet or quiz, instructors assess students’ ability to label verbs in sentences as actions or states.
• On a multiple-choice item, instructors evaluate students’ ability to choose the stative verb in simple aspect, not progressive.

4. Objective: Understand and use expressions of past habit (used to + base & would + base).

SLOs:

• Form expressions of past habit with used to and would.
• Understand that only “used to” can be used for past states. Either “used to” or “would” may describe past habits or actions.
• Use expressions of past habit to talk about their past experiences.

Suggested MOAs:

• On cloze exercise, instructors ask students to fill in the past habit verb forms in sentences (e.g., In elementary school, I ________ (get) home from school around 3:00 every day. Then I ________ (play) with my neighbors until dinner.)
• In an exercise, instructors ask students to select the possible forms (used to or would or both) for a given sentence (using their understanding of active and stative verbs).
• Instructors ask students to write a paragraph about their past habits, given a starting situation (e.g., When I was in elementary school, I…). Instructors grade the form and logical use of habit expressions with would & used to in the paragraph.

092: Clauses & Connectors

1. Objective: Differentiate between phrases and clauses.

SLOs:

• Identify word groups as phrases or clauses.

Suggested MOAs:

• On quizzes or assignments, instructors ask students to label word groups as phrases or clauses (e.g., a very sunny day = phrase, I sat in the sun = clause)

2. Objective: Recognize and use coordinating conjunctions (FANBOYS) as connectors between grammatically equal pieces.
SLOs:

- Identify compound sentences (two or more clauses connected by a coordinating conjunction.)
- Use coordinating conjunctions to logically connect grammatically equal pieces.
- Identify and correct coordinating conjunction errors of meaning or parallel structure.

Suggested MOAs:

- In a short paragraph, instructors ask students to underline compound sentences.
- On an assignment, the instructor provides sentences with missing connectors and assesses students’ ability to supply a logical connector.
- On a quiz, instructors ask students to fill in the missing element of a sentence after a coordinating conjunction (e.g., He loves coffee and _______. He loves to play and ______ basketball. Michigan is beautiful and _______. Look for your missing homework in your bag and _______.) Instructors evaluate whether students can supply a piece that is grammatically equal to what came before the connector.
- On worksheets or quizzes, instructors evaluate students’ ability to fix errors of parallel structure or connector choice in sentences or short paragraphs. Instructors use errors from students’ own writing for this activity.

3. Objective: Differentiate between independent and dependent clauses by recognizing subordinating connectors.

SLOs:

- Identify independent and dependent clauses.

Suggested MOAs:

- On an assignment, instructors assess students’ ability to identify independent and dependent clauses by giving them complex sentences and asking students to underline the independent clause, box the dependent clauses, and circle the subordinating connectors.

4. Objective: Recognize complex sentences.

SLOs:

Suggested MOAs:

- Instructor takes a familiar paragraph from one of the 092 textbooks and
5. Objective: Produce complex sentences following common adverb clause patterns to express time, condition, and reasons.

SLOs:

- Identify subordinating connectors in adverb clauses (as soon as, before, after, since, until, when, whenever, while, if, because, and since.)
- Produce accurate complex sentences that show time relationships with the subordinating connectors as soon as, before, after, since, until, when, whenever, and while.
- Produce accurate complex sentences that express conditions with the subordinating connectors if and when. Students produce accurate complex sentences that express reasons with the subordinating connectors because and since.

Suggested MOAs:

- Instructors evaluate student’s ability to identify subordinating connectors by asking them to circle those words in a paragraph. Instructors check that only subordinating connectors were circled, not other types of connecting or transition words.
- Instructors provide two simple sentences and ask students to combine them into one complex sentence with a logical subordinating connector. Instructor evaluates sentence construction and subordinating connector choice.
- Instructors ask students to fill in the missing part of a conditional statement (e.g., If ________, I won’t come to class.) Instructors evaluate grammatical construction and logic of the sentence.
- Instructors ask students to write a paragraph in response to an opinion question. In their response, they should support their opinion using complex sentences with since and/or because. One part of the rubric should evaluate effectiveness of the complex sentences.

6. Objective: Understand and use adjective clauses with who, which, and that.

SLOs:

- Identify adjective clauses and the nouns they modify.
- Distinguish between who and which.
- Identify adjective clauses as essential or nonessential.
- Combine two sentences into one using an adjective clause.

Suggested MOAs:

- On an assignment, instructors evaluate students’ ability to identify adjective clauses by asking them to circle the subordinating connector, underline the whole adjective clause, and draw an arrow to the noun it modifies.
On a quiz, instructors evaluate students’ understanding of the subordinating connectors who and which by giving them a complex sentence with the subordinator missing and asking them to complete the sentence with either who or which.

On an assignment, instructors evaluate students’ ability to punctuate adjective clauses by giving them sentences with both identifying (essential) and non-identifying (nonessential) clauses and asking them to add punctuation (commas) where necessary.

On a test or quiz, instructors assess students’ ability to write adjective clauses by providing students with two related sentences and asking them to combine them into one complex sentence using an adjective clause.

7. Objective: Begin to recognize fragments as errors.

SLOs:
- Recognize fragments as incomplete sentences.
- Identify fragments with missing subjects or verbs.
- Identify fragments that are only dependent clauses (i.e., the subordinating connector makes it incomplete).

Suggested MOAs:
- On a quiz, the instructor asks students to define “fragment.”
- Instructors present a list of mixed sentences and fragments and ask students to label each one sentence (S) or fragment (F).

---

092: Passive Voice

1. Objective: Recognize and understand passive constructions (be + 3rd) in simple present and simple past.

SLOs:
- Recognize passive verb forms (be + 3rd) in a passage (especially simple present and past).

Suggested MOAs:
- Using reading passages from the 092C textbook, instructors ask students to scan for and underline only the passive verbs.
• Understand that “active” or “passive” describes the subject of a sentence and that the agent is the “actor” or “doer” in a passive sentence.
• Recognize agents indicated with by.
• Differentiate active from passive sentences.

• Instructors pull example sentences from the 092C textbook and ask students to circle the noun in each that is the actor or doer (i.e., the agent in a passive sentence and the subject in an active sentence.)
• Using reading passages from the 092C textbook, instructors ask students to scan for “by” and circle agents in passive sentences.
• On a quiz, instructors assess whether students can label sample sentences as active (A) or passive (P).

2. Objective: Produce passive sentences in simple present and simple past.

SLOs:
• Transform (“flip”) simple present and simple past sentences from active to passive, changing word order and verb form and adding “by” to signal an agent.

Suggested MOAs:
• On a quiz, instructors provide active sentences and ask students to transform them into passives. Instructors evaluate correct verb form, word order, and adding “by” for the agent.

092: Modals
1. Objective: Understand and use modals of advice and expectation (should, had better, be supposed to).

SLOs:
• Differentiate between true modals and “modal-like expressions” (e.g., have to) which express meanings similar to modals, but follow different grammar rules: subject-verb agreement, question formation, etc.
• Recognize the following as expressions of advice, warning, and expectation: should, had better, be supposed to.
• Produce correct verb phrases with should, had better, and be supposed to.
• Identify and correct errors of verb form, agreement, and time frame in expressions of advice, warning, and

Suggested MOAs:
• Orally or on paper, instructors ask students to list the true modals (will, would, can, could, may, might, shall, should, must). Any other expression covered in this unit is modal-like.
• On assignments or tests, instructors assess students’ ability to recognize modals of advice by having students underline sentences that ask for or give advice in a paragraph.
• On a multiple-choice item, students choose the correct form of a modal to complete a sentence (e.g., He should / shoulds study.) expectation.

- On a multiple-choice item, students choose the correct form of a modal-like expression to complete a sentence (e.g., He be supposed to / is supposed to study.)
- On a multiple-choice item, students choose the correct form of a main verb to complete a sentence (e.g., He should study / studies / to study.)
- On a test, instructors check that students can edit errors of form, agreement, or tense in sentences with should, had better, be supposed to.

2. Objective: Understand and use modals of probability in present and future (may, might, could, will, should).

| • Produce accurate phrases with comparative adjectives.
• Use comparative forms accurately to produce meaningful comparisons. | • On an assignment or test, instructors evaluate students’ ability to complete a comparison correctly (e.g., Saud’s homework is _______ than Xiao’s. (difficult) (Xiao’s). Correct answers include more difficult than, and less difficult than.
• Instructors evaluate students’ ability to use comparisons in writing. For example, instructors may ask students to compare American customs with those of the students’ home countries. Instructors should evaluate logic and form of the students’ comparisons. |

2. Objective: Make comparisons with adjectives using as...as and not as...as.

<table>

</table>
| • Form comparisons with as...as to show that two things are equal.
• Use as...as comparisons with the correct pronoun or pronoun + verb.
• Understand comparisons of equal things (as...as) and unequal things (not as...as). | • On a test, instructors evaluate students’ ability to form comparisons of equal things using as...as by giving students a sentence with a blank and providing them with an adjective. Students fill in the blank with the correct form. (e.g. Your car is _____ as new as _____ (new) mine.
• On an assignment, instructors evaluate students’ ability to complete a comparison by giving the students the first part of a sentence and asking them to complete it accurately (e.g., You talk as fast as _______. Correct answers include him & he does.) |
On a quiz, instructors assess students’ understanding of comparisons by asking students to select the comparison that is closest in meaning to another (e.g., This pizza place is cheaper than that one. Choices: This pizza place is not as expensive as that one. / This pizza place is as cheap as that one. / This pizza place is as expensive as that one.)

3. Objective: Use superlative forms of adjectives (the -est, the most ___).

SLOs:
- Form superlative adjectives with the -est and the most _____.

Suggested MOAs:
- On a test, instructors evaluate students’ ability to form superlative adjectives by providing a sentence with a blank and an adjective in parentheses. Students have to choose between the –est and the most. (e.g. My grammar book is ______the longest_____ textbook I own (long).

092: Adverbs

1. Objective: Understand and use too and very.

SLOs:
- Understand that both too and very make an adjective stronger, but that too has a negative (judgmental) meaning.
- Produce sentences with very to express a neutral generalization (e.g., ELC students are very busy.).
- Produce sentences with too to express disapproval (e.g., ELC students are too busy.).
- Differentiate between too or very based on the context.

Suggested MOAs:
- On a multiple choice item, students see a sentence with too or very and then choose the best sentence to follow it (e.g., This cake is too sweet. a) Can I have some more? b) I don’t want any more.)
- Instructors ask students to change stereotype statements (with too) to generalizations (with very).
- Instructors ask students to write stereotypes and generalizations about their own groups (nationality, gender, age, etc.). Instructors evaluate logical use of too and very.
- On a quiz, given a context and a sentence, students choose too or very. (e.g., You had a difficult time with the homework last night. You want your instructor to help you. You say, “This homework was too / very hard.” Choose the adverb that will NOT make the instructor angry.) Instructors evaluate appropriateness of response.

092: Gerunds/Infinitives

1. Objective: Recognize gerunds (base + -ing) and infinitives (to + base).

SLOs:
- Recognize gerunds and infinitives.

Suggested MOAs:
- On a class assignment, the instructor assesses students’ ability to recognize gerunds and infinitives by providing them with sentences and asking them to circle the gerunds and box the infinitives.

2. Objective: Understand that gerunds and infinitives are nouns used in noun positions in a sentence like subjects, objects, or objects of a preposition.

SLOs:
- Identify gerund or infinitive subjects, objects, or objects of a preposition.

Suggested MOAs:
- On a test or quiz, the instructors assess students’ understanding of gerunds and infinitives as nouns by providing them with sentences and asking them to circle the gerund or infinitive and then label it as an S or O for subject or object (of verb or preposition).

3. Objective: Understand and use infinitives to express purpose.

SLOs:
- Use infinitives in place of in order to + base to show the purpose of an action.

Suggested MOAs:
- On an assignment, the instructor evaluates students’ ability to use infinitives to express purpose by providing them with incomplete sentences that could use in order to and ask students to fill in the blank with the infinitive form.

4. Objective: Use infinitives after adjectives and adverbs.
SLOs:

- Use infinitives after adjectives or adverbs.

Suggested MOAs:

- On a test, the instructor assesses students’ ability to use infinitives after adjectives or adverbs by giving them a sentence that ends with a blank after an adjective or adverb and asking them to complete the sentence with an infinitive (e.g., I was lucky _____ to study Italian in Italy,____).
093: Verb Tense

What happened first: X or Y?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>• Instructors provide single-time frame paragraphs, and require students to fill in missing verbs with the correct aspect. Instructors accept a range of possible answers (i.e., sometimes a verb could logically be put in simple, perfect, or progressive aspect. Sometimes there is only one possible answer.)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>• On a multiple-choice item, students choose from a list of possible verb forms to complete a sentence. They are instructed to choose ALL possible answers. 4. Objective: Punctuate compound and complex sentences.
- Punctuate compound and complex sentences correctly.

- On an assignment, the instructor provides the students with different types of sentences without any punctuation and asks students to punctuate them accurately.

5. Objective: Combine simple sentences to make complex sentences.

SLOs:

- Combine two simple sentences to make a complex sentence.

Suggested MOAs:

- Instructors identify simple sentences in students’ writing that can be combined. On a draft or a worksheet, instructors ask students to make complex sentences by combining those sentences.

6. Objective: Differentiate between independent and dependent clauses by recognizing subordinating connectors.

SLOs:

- Identify independent and dependent clauses and the subordinating connectors that mark the dependent clauses.

Suggested MOAs:

- On an assignment, instructors assess students’ ability to identify independent and dependent clauses by giving them complex sentences and asking students to underline the independent clause(s), box the dependent clause(s), and circle the subordinating connectors.

7. Objective: Produce complex sentences following common adverb clause patterns to express contrast, result, and purpose.

SLOs:

- Produce accurate complex sentences that show contrast with the subordinators although, even though, and while.
- Produce accurate complex sentences that express result with the subordinating connectors so and so that.
- Produce accurate complex sentences that express purpose with the

Suggested MOAs:

- Instructors ask students to write a compare/contrast paragraph. In their response, they should support their opinion using complex sentences with although, even though, and while. One part of the rubric should evaluate effectiveness of the complex sentences.
- Instructors ask students to fill in the missing part of a sentence that expresses a result (e.g. I had a bad day so... subordinating connectors so that and in order that.

Instructors evaluate grammatical construction and logic of the sentence.
- Instructors provide two simple sentences and ask students to combine them into one complex sentence with a logical subordinating connector. Instructor evaluates sentence construction and subordinating connector choice.

8. Objective: Understand and use adjective clauses with the subordinating connectors who, which, and that as both subject and object.

SLOs:
- Identify subordinating connectors, adjective clauses, and the nouns they describe.
- State whether the subordinating connector is the subject or object of the clause.
- Recognize that only subordinating connectors that are objects can be omitted.
- Choose the correct subordinating connector to complete a clause (who, which, that)
- Identify essential and nonessential clauses.
- Combine simple sentences into a complex sentence with an adjective clause to avoid repeating the same noun.

Suggested MOAs:
- On an assignment, instructors evaluate students’ ability to identify adjective clauses by asking them to circle the subordinating connector, underline the whole adjective clause, and draw an arrow to the noun it modifies.
- When discussing an exercise, the instructor assesses students’ ability to identify subject and object adjective clauses by asking them to state whether the subordinating connector of the sentence is the subject or object of the adjective clause.
- In a textbook exercise, the instructor evaluates students understanding of object adjective clauses by asking them for all possible correct answers for a blank in the sentence where the subordinating connector should be. Students should include Ø as a possible answer for sentences with object adjective clauses only.
- On a test, the instructor evaluates students use of subordinating connectors by providing them with a complex sentence that includes an adjective clause with a blank where the subordinating connector is supposed to be. Students fill in the blank with any possible connector.
- On an assignment, instructors evaluate students’ ability to punctuate adjective clauses by giving them sentences with both identifying (essential) and non-identifying (nonessential) clauses and asking them to add punctuation (commas) where necessary.
• On a test or quiz, instructors assess students’ ability to write adjective clauses by providing students with two related sentences and asking them to combine them into one complex sentence using an adjective clause.

9. Objective: Identify and fix fragments and run-ons.

| • Correctly produce expressions of probability with can, may, must, should, have to, must, might, will, and could in past, present, and future.
• Identify and correct errors in expressions of probability (including negatives and questions), fixing errors of modal + base, S-V agreement, word order, and tense.
• Use an appropriate modal depending on the degree of certainty of the statement provided, either implied in the context or provided explicitly. | • On homework, instructors check that students can write modal and modal-like expressions correctly if they are given a paragraph and asked to fill in the blank with the modal or modal-like expression provided. To answer correctly students must keep in mind the time frame of the paragraph.
• Instructors assess students’ ability to fix errors of form, word order, subject-verb agreement, word order, and tense in expressions of probability (including negatives and questions).
• On a cloze item, instructors evaluate students’ ability to express degree of probability by asking them to supply an appropriate modal to complete a sentence (e.g., I __________ lunch with you today. (unlikely) – Student answers might have.)
• In class exercises, instructors evaluate students’ ability to fill in modals and modal-like expressions in a paragraph. To answer correctly students must keep in mind the time frame of the paragraph and match the S-V of the modal-like expressions.
• Instructors assess students’ ability to fix errors of form, word order, subject-verb agreement, word order, and tense in expressions of necessity (including negatives and questions).
• On an assignment or quiz, instructors check to see if students can differentiate between requirements and options. Instructors ask students to rewrite imperatives as statements of necessity with have to, must, be supposed to, need to, or be required to. (e.g., Go running every day. It’s an option. (have to) → You don’t have to go running every day.)
093: Conditionals

1. Objective: Understand and use real conditionals in present and future time.

<table>

2. Objective: Understand and use unreal conditionals in present and future time.

SLOs:

- Produce accurate unreal conditional statements in present and future time. (e.g., If I had more money, I would travel the world.)
- Identify correct verb forms to express unreal conditional statements.
- Produce accurate unreal conditional questions, using question word order in the main clause only.
- Understand conditional sentences containing even if (whether or not) or unless (negative conditions).
- Recognize whether a conditional statement is real (and therefore possible) or unreal (impossible).

Suggested MOAs:

- On a test, instructors assess students’ ability to form accurate unreal conditionals by providing them with a real statement and asking them to change it to unreal. (e.g., We have enough time, so we can check our answers before turning in our assignment. → If we didn’t have enough time, we couldn’t check our answers before turning in our assignment.)
- On a multiple-choice item, instructors assess whether students can select the correct verbs to complete an unreal conditional statement.
- On a quiz, instructors assess students’ ability to write correct unreal conditionals by providing them a condition and result and asking them to write the sentence as a question. To earn full points, students can only use question formation in the main clause.
- On an assignment, instructors assess students’ ability to understand the meaning of conditionals with even if and unless by providing them with a sentence containing that type of conditional and then asking them to choose between two possible meanings of the sentence.
- On a quiz, instructors provide a list of conditional statements and ask students to label them real or unreal.

093: Determiners

1. Objective: Understand indefinite and definite articles as markers of new or old information in a text.

SLOs:

Suggested MOAs:
• Use the indefinite article a/an with a singular noun the first time it appears in a text. After that, the same noun (or its synonym) takes the definite article the.
• Use zero article (ø) with a plural or noncount noun the first time it appears in a text. After that, the repeated noun (or its synonym) takes the.
• Identify articles that mark new and old information in a text.

• In a cloze exercise, instructors provide short paragraphs with the articles deleted (including zero article: ø). Students fill in a, an, the, or ø before each noun. Instructors assess whether students have used the correct article for new and old information in the text.
• Instructors provide a short text of one or more paragraphs, and ask students to scan for article + noun phrases and circle any that are new. They underline any that are old/repeated and draw an arrow back to the original noun in the text.

093: Gerunds / Infinitives
1. Objective: Understand and use gerunds and infinitives with appropriate collocations.

SLOs:
• Use collocations to choose a gerund or infinitive:
  o Use gerunds after a preposition.
  o Use gerunds in adverbial phrases after prepositions (e.g., I found this school by looking on the Internet.).
  o Use gerunds after noun + of.
  o Use infinitives after nouns.
  o Use gerunds after a limited set of memorized verbs.
  o Use infinitives after a limited set of memorized verbs.
• Use an appendix or other resource to search for a list of common verbs used with gerunds and/or infinitives.

Suggested MOAs:
• On an assignment, the instructor evaluates students’ ability to choose gerunds or infinitives based on their common collocations by providing them with a sentence and the base form of a word that students use to create a gerund or infinitive to fill in the blank.
• On a class assignment, the instructor evaluates students’ ability to use the grammar textbook’s appendix by asking students to fill in a chart with the gerund or infinitive form following a given set of verbs.

  - Perfect is used for an action/event that has happened before another.
  - Progressive is used for an action/event that is happening at the same time as another.

- Using knowledge of time frame, aspect, and signal words, determine whether to use present perfect or simple past.

- On a quiz, instructors ask students to select the true statement: “In English, writers should try to stay in one time frame and vary the aspect of their verbs.” OR “In English, writers should try to stay in one aspect and vary the time frame of their verbs.”

- Instructors provide single-time paragraphs with mixed aspect (i.e., a paragraph where all verbs are present but in different aspects). Instructors assess whether students can accurately answer questions about time relationships in the paragraphs, such as “Which event happened before X? What was happening at the same time as X? What happened first: X or Y?

- On a quiz or homework assignment, instructors provide a paragraph with some verbs left blank (either past simple or present perfect) and assess whether students can fill in verb forms correctly. In some cases, more than one answer may be logical.

094: Clauses & Connectors

1. Objective: Differentiate between phrases and clauses.

SLOs:

- Identify word groups as phrases or clauses.

Suggested MOAs:

- On quizzes or assignments, instructors ask students to label word groups as phrases or clauses (e.g., a very sunny day = phrase, I sat in the sun = clause).

2. Objective: Identify sentences as simple, compound, complex, or compound-complex.

SLOs:

- Identify the types of sentences in a text.

Suggested MOAs:

- Instructor highlights a variety of sentences in an article from an 094 text or authentic article and evaluates whether students can identify the type of each sentence.
3. Objective: Identify clauses as adverb clauses, adjective clauses or noun clauses depending on their functions in the sentence.

SLOs:
- Identify the functions and types of clauses in a text. (Functions: Adjective clauses describe nouns. Noun clauses are in subject or object position. Adverb clauses describe a verb or a whole sentence.)

Suggested MOAs:
- Instructor highlights a variety of clauses in an article from an 094 text or authentic article and evaluates whether students can identify the function and type of each clause. (e.g., “This clause is the object in the sentence, so it’s a noun clause.”)

4. Objective: Produce accurate adverb clauses.

SLOs:
- Use a variety of adverb clauses effectively in their own writing.

Suggested MOAs:
- On a draft, instructor evaluates the students’ uses of adverb clauses for accurate form and meaning.

5. Objective: Understand and use adjective clauses with the subordinating connectors who, which, that, whom, whose, and Ø.

SLOs:
- In article-length texts, identify adjective clauses and the nouns they describe.
- Select all subordinating connectors that can accurately complete a given adjective clause (who, which, that, whom, whose, Ø).
- Combine two simple sentences into a complex sentence with an adjective clause.
- Understand the difference in meaning between identifying (essential) and non-identifying (nonessential) clauses.
- Appropriately punctuate non-identifying adjective clauses (placing commas after names or specific nouns).
- Add details to a sentence with adjective clauses.
- Identify and correct errors in adjective clause construction.

Suggested MOAs:
- As a pair-activity in class, instructors hand out a news article and ask students to find adjective clauses in the text, draw a box around the whole clause, circle the connector, and draw a line to the noun that is described.
- On a multiple-choice item, the instructor provides a sentence with an adjective clause and a blank in the connector position. Students choose all of the possible connectors to complete the clause.
- On a worksheet, instructors provide two simple sentences with a repeated noun and ask students to write a new complex sentence with an adjective clause (e.g., MSU’s mascot is Sparty. MSU has a great football team this year. → MSU, whose mascot is Sparty, has a great football team this year.)
• On a quiz, instructors assess whether students can correctly answer questions about the meaning of sentence pairs where the only difference is the commas setting off an adjective clause. (e.g., My sister who lives in Istanbul came to visit. My sister, who lives in Istanbul, came to visit. Which sentence implies I only have one sister?)

• On a quiz, instructors assess whether students know to add commas to clauses that follow names or specific nouns. This can be part of an editing task.

• On a worksheet or quiz, instructors give students a few simple sentences and ask them to add an adjective clause to the sentence. (e.g., I like gifts. → I like gifts that are thoughtful. (Instructors evaluate the responses for accurate clause form.)

• On a quiz, instructors present a variety of sentences containing adjective clauses, some that are accurate, some that contain errors, and evaluate whether students can find and fix the errors.

6. Objective: Recognize and use reduced adjective clauses.

SLOs:

- Reduce adjective clauses to phrases by deleting the connector along with be or by deleting the connector and changing a simple-aspect verb into an -ing adjective.
- Recognize adjective phrases as reduced clauses and expand them back into clauses.

Suggested MOAs:

- On a worksheet, given a set of sentences with adjective clauses, instructors ask students to cross out or change words to reduce the clause (e.g., Follow the instructions that are given; Find a sentence that contains containing a clause.)
- On a worksheet, given a set of sentences with adjective phrases, instructors ask students to find the adjective phrases and add words to make them clauses (e.g., Follow the instructions given at the top of the page; Students should add that are.)

7. Objective: Understand and use noun clauses, including quotations and reported speech.
SLOs:
- Use noun clauses to express an opinion or impression. (I think that, I’m surprised that)
- Form correct noun clauses with embedded statements and questions.
- Transform direct quotes into reported speech.
- Recognize that when the main verb is in past tense (e.g., He said that...), the verb in the noun clause moves back one tense.
- Punctuate direct quotes and reported speech correctly.

Suggested MOAs:
- Instructors assess students’ ability to complete sentences about their own experiences using noun clauses (e.g., When I first came to the U.S., I was surprised that ____________. I still wonder if ____________.)
- On a worksheet or quiz, instructors provide an original sentence and the stem for a complex sentence and ask students to complete the sentence with a noun clause that contains the original sentence’s meaning. (e.g., When is the final exam? I want to know when the final exam is.; Do I need to study hard? I wonder if I need to study hard.) Instructors evaluate responses for accurate word order, verb form, choice of subordinating connector, and punctuation.
- During class, the instructor shows a movie clip in which characters ask each other questions. The students repeat exactly what the characters asked and answered. They then change the questions and answers to reported speech. The instructor evaluates the accuracy of reported speech constructions (checking for word order, subordinating connector choice, pronouns, and tenses). This may be done orally or in writing.
- On a test, the instructor provides a mixed set of direct quotes and reported speech with the punctuation removed. Instructor evaluates whether students can recognize the type of quote (direct or reported) and supply the correct punctuation (commas, quotation marks, and period or question mark).

094: Passive Voice
1. Objective: Recognize and form passive constructions (with be or get) in any tense, including with modals.
1. Objective: Identify passive verbs in any tense (including with modals).

SLOs:
- Identify passive verbs in any tense (including with modals.)
- Form accurate passive verbs in any tense.
- Form correct negatives and questions with be passive and get passive (e.g., Was he shot? vs. Did he get shot? He wasn’t shot vs. He didn’t get shot.).

Suggested MOAs:
- On a worksheet, given a set of sentences with adjective clauses, instructors ask students to cross out or change words to reduce the clause (e.g., Follow the instructions that are given; Find a sentence that contains containing a clause.)
- On a worksheet, given a set of sentences with adjective phrases, instructors ask students to find the adjective phrases and add words to make them clauses (e.g., Follow the instructions given at the top of the page; Students should add that are.)

2. Objective: Understand passive constructions and use them accurately to convey intended meaning.

SLOs:
- Understand that “active” or “passive” describes the subject of a sentence and that the agent is the “actor” or “doer” in a passive sentence.
- Recognize when a sentence cannot be expressed with a passive construction (i.e., the verb is intransitive).
- Use passive verbs appropriately.

Suggested MOAs:
- Instructors provide example sentences and ask students to circle the noun in each that is the actor or doer. (This will be the agent in a passive sentence and the subject in an active sentence.)
- On a worksheet or quiz, instructors provide a set of active sentences and ask students to make them passive if possible. If it is impossible to “flip” the sentence (because of an intransitive verb) students should write “no change.”
- On a worksheet or quiz, when given a subject, students complete the sentence with a passive verb. Instructors assess the appropriateness and accuracy of each sentence.

3. Objective: Understand and use participial adjectives (-ed/-ing adjectives).

SLOs:
- Recognize that participial adjectives (-ing / -ed adjectives) come from active or passive verbs.

Suggested MOAs:
- On a worksheet or quiz, instructors provide a simple sentence (e.g., The game entertains the children) and ask
- Participial Adjectives

  Students to write two sentences with different participial adjectives (e.g., 1 - The game is entertaining. 2 - The children are entertained.)

  - On a worksheet or quiz, instructors assess whether students can select the logical adjective to complete a sentence (e.g., This course is interested / interesting.

094: Conditionals

1. Objective: Understand and use unreal conditionals in past time.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>SLOs:</th>
<th>Suggested MOAs:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>- Produce accurate unreal conditional statements about the past (e.g., If I had had more money, I would have traveled the world.)</td>
<td>- On a test, instructors assess student’s ability to form accurate unreal conditionals by providing them with a real statement and asking them to change it to unreal. (e.g., We had enough time, so we could check our answers before turning in our assignment. → If we had not had enough time, we could not have checked our answers before turning in our assignment.)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>- Identify correct verb forms to express conditional statements.</td>
<td>- On a multiple choice item, students choose the correct verbs to complete a conditional statement (real or unreal, present, past, or future).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>- Produce accurate unreal conditional questions, using question word order in the main clause only.</td>
<td>- On a quiz or test, instructors assess students’ ability to write correct past conditionals by providing them a condition and the result and asking them to write the sentence as a question. To complete this correctly, students can only use question formation in the main clause.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

2. Objective: Express wishes in the present and past.

<tr>
<td></td>
<td>- On an assignment, instructors assess students’ ability to form accurate wishes</td>

Produce accurate wish statements in the past and present (e.g., I wish I had a dog and I wish I had had a dog).

in the present or past by providing them with a conversation that has some blanks. Students must complete the blanks with either a wish in the present or a wish in the past depending on the context.

094: Gerunds / Infinitives

1. Objective: Understand that in cases where both the infinitive and gerund are possible, the use of the infinitive often implies something future (“hypothetical, future, and unfulfilled”) whereas the gerund implies something done or in progress (“vivid, real, fulfilled”) (The Grammar Book, p. 648).

SLOs:

- Use gerunds or infinitives based on whether the meaning of the sentence is an implied future or something completed/in progress.

Suggested MOAs:

- On a class assignment, the instructor assesses whether or not the students can understand the meaning of a sentence and then use those clues to choose a gerund or infinitive. In cloze sentences, students fill in the correct verb + gerund or infinitive in sentences and circle time clue words. They also classify action as future or completed/in-progress using the time clues (e.g., For now, I prefer ________ a instructor. ________ Students would circle “for now” and write in progress on the line after the sentence. Then they would complete the blank in the sentence with being. – In ten years, I would prefer ________ an administrator. Students would circle “in ten years” and then write future on the line after the sentence. Then they would complete the blank with to be.)

2. Objective: Effectively use reference materials that show grammatical patterns and collocations in order to produce correct sentences with gerunds & infinitives.

SLOs:

- Use reference materials containing common grammatical patterns or collocations used with gerunds and/or

Suggested MOAs:

- On an in-class assignment, the instructor evaluates students’ ability to use provided reference materials (e.g., advanced learner dictionary, textbook | infinitives in order to produce accurate sentences. | appendix) by asking students to fill in blanks in a paragraph with all of the gerunds and infinitives removed. |
| Identify and correct errors of gerund and infinitive form in their own writing. | • Instructors ask students to identify all gerunds and infinitives in a draft they’ve written and then use the reference materials to find and correct any of their mistakes. |
